8. [REDACTED] - GLC) Talked with Steve Wexler, Counsel, Senate Subcommittee on Education of the Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, about the Subcommittee hearings on Senator Dominick's bill to establish a U. S. Foreign Service Corps (S. 939). Wexler felt that the two instances in which the Agency was mentioned in the hearings on this bill could be handled without any direct or formal response from the Agency. See Memo for the Record for details.

9. [REDACTED] GLC) I advised Peggy McDonald, in the office of Senator Henry M. Jackson, that Carl Duckett and other Agency officials had carefully reviewed the qualifications of [REDACTED] about whom the Senator had contacted us but that we do not have a suitable opening for him and would not want to raise his hopes by arranging a personnel interview at this time unless the Senator was particularly anxious that we do so. Miss McDonald said she would inform the Senator.

6. [REDACTED] - GLC) Tried to see Steve Wexler, on the staff of the Education Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, regarding the testimony of State Department witnesses on the Foreign Service Corps (S. 939). Wexler was involved in the floor debate on the secondary education bill but I was able to obtain a copy of the transcript involved from his staff. Excerpts of pertinent parts are being forwarded to the Director of Personnel and [REDACTED].

7. [REDACTED] GLC) In response to his request, I provided Bill Woodruff, on the staff of the Senate Appropriations Committee, with a copy of FMSAC's blind commentary on the Richard Lyons' column in the New York Times on the Soviet satellite destroyer. I also provided Woodruff with a copy of the blind memorandum on [REDACTED] used by the Director in briefing Senator Fulbright. Woodruff appreciated having both of these items.

Woodruff said he would be available to visit the Agency on Thursday, 12 February, along with Ralph Preston for a briefing on Agency programs. I asked him to stay on for lunch.

8. [REDACTED] - GLC) In response to his request, I provided Ed Braswell, on the staff of the Senate Armed Services Committee, a copy of the FMSAC commentary on the Richard Lyons' column in the New York Times on the Soviet destroyer. I also left with Braswell a copy of the blind memorandum on the [REDACTED] which was used by the Director in briefing Senator Fulbright.

[REDACTED] said that the point of contact in State was Mr. DeHaven. State is interested in knowing whether we want to provide this information to the Subcommittee through the Department or whether we prefer to deal directly with the Subcommittee staff. I told [REDACTED] I would like to look at the transcript of the hearings to get a better idea of precisely what information is involved. We are to be back in touch with [REDACTED] on Monday.
